

New blocks technology to accelerate building of cheap houses

BY JAMES ODERO, PCO

The Interlocking Stabilized Soil Blocks (ISSBs) technology is gaining massive traction in the construction industry since the inception of the Appropriate Building Materials and Technology (ABMT) project by the State Department for Housing and Urban Development.

The project is designed to deliver efficient and cost-effective housing through collaborative research, capacity building, incubation, enterprise development and dissemination of various building technologies. This will provide materials compatible with the local socio-cultural, economic as well physical and ecological environment of an area.

Through ABMT centers established across the 47 counties, artisans, contractors, developers, institutions and individuals are slowly appreciating the Interlocking Stabilized Soil Blocks (ISSBs) technology, which is being promoted by the Ministry of Transport, Infrastructure, Housing and Urban Development.

The technology produces bricks made from a mixture of soil, cement and water in appropriate ratios. The mixture is then compressed using an ISSB machine to produce bricks which are cured to ensure quality control.

In Makueni and Kitui counties, ISSBs technology has registered a steady uptake according to the county housing directors.

According to Green Eco-Building, a group under EDM based in Kitui, they have so far produced 30,000 blocks using the ISSBs technology. Out of this, 20,000 blocks have been sold to the local market which increasingly registers demand for the blocks.

60,000 Ajira Digital graduates earn living through online jobs

ICT CS says reduced internet charges and other free government internet connections installed at Constituency Innovation Hubs (CIH) and other government offices has facilitated the increased up-take of the programme

BY SENAN KAWIRA/ MUOKI CHARLES (KNA)

Over 60,000 youth have been trained under the Ajira Digital programme across the country since its inception five years ago, joining millions of Kenyans earning a living through online jobs.

ICT Cabinet Secretary (CS), Joe Mucheru, said there has been a growing number of people taking online jobs since the Covid-19 pandemic struck the country and that the government has been facilitative by increasing areas under internet connectivity.

In a speech read by the Ministry of ICT and Innovation Secretary for Administration, Ms Lucy Mulili, Mucheru said the Kenya has over 8,000 kilometers of internet fiber reaching even the remoteness of villages.

The CS said reduced internet charges and other free government internet connections like the NOFBI which is installed at Constituency Innovation Hubs (CIH) and government offices has facilitated the increased up-take of the programme.

The CS further noted that the programme has changed the lives of several youth, citing Johnstone Kepkemboi who is pursuing a Diploma at the Technical University of Mombasa, who he said, is earning Sh.10,000 weekly as a graphic designer at Fiverr.com.

Another student Rioba Joseph John, from Multimedia University is earning an average of Sh.50,000 monthly working as a virtual assistant.

"We have several success stories of this Ajira programme. Due to high unemployment, it is time for the youth to embrace ICT as an alternative source of employment. Online work is the way to go and the opportunities in the digital work space surpasses the number of digital workers," said the CS during the launch of Zetech University, Ajira Digital Club.

Ministry of ICT and Innovation Secretary Administration, Lucy Mulili, addressing Zetech University students who have been enrolled in the Ajira Digital programme.

He said the ministry has hired 100 Ajira trainees as Ajira digital trainers and mentors to help those willing to take the programme.

Some of the online jobs in Ajira include transcription, digital marketing, virtual assistance, data entry and management and online writing.

Mucheru at the same time said that the ministry, working closely with Members of Parliament (MPs), has opened over 200 CIHs across the country where youths can visit and work online.

The hubs are fully furnished with furniture and internet connection and have trainers who help the youth in accessing the online jobs. He said they target to have four CIHs in each constituency.

On the Presidential Digital Talent Program (PDTP), the CS said the ministry gives 400 fresh graduates a chance to intern each year, so as to get the necessary skills to make it in the job environment.

Zetech Vice Chancellor, Prof. Njenga Munene, welcomed the programme, saying as an Institution that offers ICT courses, they will ensure more students are enrolled in the programme.

He also called for more government collaboration to have CIH at the university so as to help the many jobless youth in Ruiru Constituency.

CS directs local varsities to focus on traditional core areas of strength

BY PATRICK AMUNAVI

Education Cabinet Secretary Prof. George Magoha has directed universities in Kenya to remain focused on their traditional core areas of strength.

Citing the example of Jomo Kenyatta University of Agriculture and Technology (JKUAT), the Cabinet Secretary said, "No one can deny the fact that JKUAT is a very strong university when it comes to science and technology. I wish to encourage the university to strengthen itself along these fronts rather than digressing to the humanities and arts."

Prof. Magoha decried a trend amongst local universities, noting; "Most Kenyan universities have over the recent years abandoned their strong fields of research and training, and instead deviated to all manner of programmes."

The Cabinet Secretary therefore called on all institutions of higher learning to desist from the negative trend of duplicating programmes offered in other universities and instead, strengthen the traditional programmes.

Prof. Magoha was speaking at Jomo Kenyatta University of Agriculture and Technology (JKUAT) Main Campus Juja, where together with the Japanese Ambassador to Kenya, Mr. Ryoichi Horie, presided over the official inauguration of the university's newly constructed state-of-the-art Agriculture Laboratory Building (ALB) constructed by the Japanese Government through the Japanese International Corporation Agency (JICA).

The Cabinet Secretary, recognized the Japanese Government through JICA, for the good work whose impact he said, is evident at JKUAT and across the country.

While lauding JKUAT for being a "Beacon of technology transfer and innovation in Kenya," the Cabinet Secretary said "institutions of higher learning, must step up collaborations with other world class universities, including those in Japan. As a Ministry, we are proud of the fact that most of the top scientists at JKUAT are alumni of Japanese universities.

Prof. Magoha further challenged the university top management to leverage the expertise at JKUAT in various fields and form companies and bid for available tendering opportunities in government, emphasizing that President Uhuru Kenyatta was keen to create self-sustainability in local universities.

On his part the Japanese Ambassador, Ryoichi Horie, expressed his gratitude to all the stakeholders involved in the "comprehensive completion and renovation of the building which had been realized under the Africa -ai-Japan project.

The Ambassador noted that Japan has developed very cordial relationship with JKUAT since the beginning of its establishment as a university in 1981, and paid tribute to all professionals and academics from both Japan and Kenya for their efforts that have earned JKUAT its current reputation.

DRC seeks admission to the East African Community as political experts assess its application

BY SIMON OWAKA

The East African Community will deploy a verification mission to the Democratic Republic of Congo to assess the country's suitability to be admitted into the Community.

The 31st Meeting of the Sectoral Council of Ministers of EAC Affairs and Planning (SC-MEACP) held at the EAC Headquarters in Arusha appointed a verification team comprised of three experts from each Partner State to carry out the Verification Mission from 23rd June to 3rd July, 2021.

The Summit of EAC Heads of State at its 21st Ordinary Meeting held on 27th February, 2021 considered the application by DRC to join the Community and directed the Council to expeditiously undertake a verification mission in accordance with the EAC procedure for admission of new members into the EAC and report to the 22nd Summit.

The Sectoral Council, which was chaired by Kenya's Cabinet Secretary for EAC and Regional Development, Adan Mohamed, further directed the Secretariat to submit the report of the Verification Mission to the Council of Ministers by November 2021.

The verification team will, among other things, review the current status of the DRC in international law and establish the country's level of conformity with the Criteria for admission of foreign countries as provided in the Treaty.

Under the Treaty, the Criteria for the admission of new countries into the Community include: acceptance of the Community as set out in the Treaty; adherence to universally acceptable principles of good governance, democracy, the rule of law, observance of human rights and social justice.

Potential contribution to the strengthening of integration within the East African region; geographical proximity to the EAC Partner States; establishment and maintenance of a market-driven economy; and; Social and economic policies compatible with those of the Community, are other requirements for admission.

At the same time, the Council of Ministers directed the Republic of South Sudan to expedite the domestication of the EAC Common Market and Customs Union Protocols, which it had not domesticated.

The Council also directed United Republic of Tanzania to ratify the EAC Sanitary and Phyto-sanitary (SPS) Protocol by 31st November, 2021. The EAC SPS Protocol was assented to by the Summit of EAC Heads of State in 2012 and was expected to be ratified by 30th June, 2014.

However, the implementation of the SPS is still pending due to the delay in ratification by Tanzania, which will pave the way for its domestication and implementation at EAC Partner States level.

The SPS are matters put in place by governments to facilitate trade in agricultural commodities in accordance with World Trade Organization provisions. The measures address plant health, animal health and food safety-related risks that may undermine intra-regional and international trade.

Meanwhile, the Ministers adopted the EAC Common Market Scorecard (CMS) 2018 and directed the EAC Secretariat to develop an Action Plan for implementation of the recommendations contained in the Scorecard and report to the 32nd SCMEACP.

This Scorecard covers Protocol obligations on free movement of workers related to: harmonisation of mutual and academic and professional qualifications; labour policies; laws and programmes; right of establishment and right of residence.

They directed the EAC Secretariat to incorporate Partner States' legal reforms undertaken after 30th June, 2018, the data cut-off date for the Scorecard in the next edition of the Scorecard on Free Movement of Labour, Rights of Establishment and Residence.

The Ministers directed the EAC Secretariat to expedite the process of approximating labour laws. They directed Partner States to harmonize their national labour policies, laws and programmes in line with Article 12 of the Protocol.

On efforts to rebrand the Community by developing a new corporate identity, the Ministers approved and adopted the submissions by six youth (one from each Partner State) to give the EAC a new look and feel.

The Council adopted the works of Aheebwa Job Atwooki of Uganda as the best design proposal/brand architecture, followed by Pierre Celestin Nyomugabo of Rwanda and Peter Assenga of Tanzania in third place, Tiffin Ntore of Burundi in fourth place, Lutta Wandera of Kenya in fifth place, and Deng Chol of South Sudan in sixth place.

This was the culmination of the EAC Emblem and Logos Competition mounted by the Secretariat to produce a new emblem and logo for the Community and which involved the youth from all the six Partner States.

The rebranding efforts were aimed addressing identified gaps in the EAC corporate identity including: lack of a visual connection between EAC Organs and the Institutions; some EAC Institutions having adopted the EAC logo as their primary logo whilst others have developed their own unique logos, and; too many colours in the EAC logo and flag.

State donates 1000 acres to authority to develop special economic zone in Naivasha

BY VIVIENE SIMWA (KNA)

The Government has allocated 1,000 acres of land to the Special Economic Zone Authority to facilitate the development of the Naivasha Special Economic Zone (NSEZ) in Nakuru County.

This new new special economic zone, according to the Acting SEZA CEO Dr. Meshack Kimeu, will thrust Nakuru county to an unprecedented economic take off.

Dr. Kimeu who was speaking in Naivasha said, 150 acres of the land has been allocated to the Internal Container Depot (ICD), 50 acres to the County of Nakuru while the surrounding five counties of Kiambu, Kakajiado, Machakos, Nairobi and Nyandarua have each been allocated 10 acres for logistical arrangements.

Ag. CEO of the Special Economic Zones Authority Kenya Dr. Mechack Kimeu during the interview/ 5 may 2021

Dr. Kimeu also said the completion of the 24.3 kilometer Meter Gauge Railway (MGR) line connecting the Standard Gauge Railway (SGR) to the Longonot station provides a foothold to Kenya in recapturing seamless transportation of goods and people to the western Kenya and beyond.

The Acting CEO said, the Special Economic Zones (SEZs) are programmes lined up by the Government to contribute to the transformation of the Country's socio-economic development to help Kenya realize a higher and sustained growth, employment creation and poverty reduction for the benefit of the citizenry.

The Acting Chief Executive Officer said the SEZA programme was started through the enactment of the SEZA Act No 16 of 2015 which was followed by the development of the SEZ Regulations which were gazetted in 2016 with the Board of Directors for the Authority being constituted in 2017.

He revealed that, at the moment, Kenya had gazetted 10 SEZs namely: Africa Economic Zone (Eldoret); Naivasha SEZ(Nakuru); Compact FTZ (Nairobi); Northlands SEZ (Kiambu); Tatu City SEZ (Kiambu); Konza Technopolis (Makueni); SBM SEZ (Kwale); Lamu SEZ (Lamu); Dongo Kundu SEZ (Mombasa) and Miwani SEZ (Kisumu).

Dr. Kimeu added that the SEZs were established to attract both local and foreign direct investment as well as expand and diversify the production of goods and services for domestic and export markets. The programmes, Dr.Kimeu said are designed to promote value addition, local entrepreneurship, enhance technological transfer, development of innovations in the promotion of county and national industrialization.

"The SEZ Authority is mandated to create an enabling environment inside and outside the designated zone through the development of integrated infrastructure facilities; creation of incentives for the effective facilitation of economic and business activities and removal of impediments to economic or business activities undertaken by ZEZ enterprises", Dr.Kimeu revealed.

The Naivasha Special Eco-

nomie Zone is planned to include among others: common user facilities, an Inland Container Depot, Railway Marshalling Yard, logistics zone and public utility area with supporting modern infrastructure.

The Zone will offer state of the art trans-shipment facilities to allow for the seamless interchange between SGR and MGR line handling the cargo destined for EAC and Central African Countries.

"Some of the reasons which attract investors to Kenya include; the strategic location of Kenya as a gate-way to the East and Central Africa region; a liberalized and strong economy; wide market access, modern infrastructure, vibrant Capital Markets, pro-markets reforms and continuous improvements on the ease of doing business, political stability and favorable investment policy, fair energy cost, well-established private sector and adoption and implementation of the SEZ Programme, said Dr. Kimeu.

Baringo households to benefit from UAE, Kuwait livestock export deal

BY CHRISTOPHER KIPROP/BEN-SON KELIO (KNA)

100,000 households in Baringo county will benefit from an agreement between the county government, United Arab Emirates (UAE) and Kuwait to export livestock products to the middle east country.

Speaking in his Kabarnet

Office after meeting a delegation of investors from the two Gulf nations, Governor Stanley Kiptis, stated that the agreement was aimed at improving livelihoods of farmers who, for long, were challenged in accessing markets for their livestock products.

“This deal is crucial because it will complement our Maoi Slaughter House in Baringo South which is almost complete and will attract more livestock products from neighbouring counties of Laikipia, Elgeyo Marakwet, and West Pokot which will also supply their goats and sheep to be slaughtered and exported directly to foreign markets,” said Kiptis.

He revealed that the county whose 75 per cent of residents are livestock farmers, boasts of more than 1 million goats and 500,000 sheep mainly reared for subsistence use. He said his administration has already empowered farmers in the county through purchase of improved breeds such as galla bucks goats and Sahiwal bulls with the intention of increasing productivity and quality of the animals in readiness for the export market.

North Rift Economic Block (NOREB) coordinator, Joseph Makilap, noted that the County is situated in a strategic location and would make use of the neighbouring Eldoret International Airport as well as airstrips in the region to transport the produce.

IGAD states adopt new plan to revamp fisheries sector in Kenya and Ethiopia

BY ESTHER MWANGI/
ERASTUS GICHOHI (KNA)

Member states of the Inter-Governmental Authority on Development (IGAD) have adopted the Omo-Turkana Basin Fisheries Co-Management Plan that will ensure sustainable management and development of the fisheries sector in Kenya and Ethiopia.

The IGAD Head of Mission for Kenya, Dr Fatouma Adan said, the management plan aims at ensuring that fisheries exploitation, equitable access to fisheries resources, and efficient fisheries utilisation was realised through collaboration and communication among key stakeholders in the IGAD region.

Fishermen landing their catch in Lake Victoria (file)

Dr. Fatouma further said IGAD was one of the agents implementing the regional economic community ECOFISH project that will see the Omo-Turkana Basin Plan boost climate smart and ecologically sustainable fisheries development and management in the two basins.

This, she added will be realised through provision of support to fishing communities and fisheries managers to facilitate active participation and engagement in the fisheries management.

While acknowledging that

IGAD region had diverse fish resources with immense potential and opportunities to contribute to the socio-economic growth of Africa and improving livelihoods of its citizens, Dr Fatouma regretted that the potential was under-utilised due to lack of knowledge, including sustaining of food safety standards of the products.

She lamented that IGAD member states and development partners have continually overlooked fish resource potential and its contribution to food security and livelihood diversification in Arid and Semi-Arid Lands (ASALs) areas resulting in low fish production.

Dr. Fatouma, however, was happy that the fisheries sector in some member countries had been recognised as one of the important growth sectors in the region contributing to accelerated economic growth and development, income generation, nutrition, employment and source of foreign earnings.

Dr Fatouma who was speaking in Naivasha during a National Consultative Workshop for adoption of the Omo-Turkana Fisheries Basin Plan, expressed the need for increased fish production and value addition owing to high domestic market demand for fish which she said could contribute to improved domestic nutrition, offer good trade opportunities at the global, regional and intra-regional levels.

The Head of Mission who was representing IGAD Executive Secretary, Workneh Gebayehu, urged the Member States to address issues of high post-harvest loss, lack of appropriate and efficient fishing equipment, difficult access to markets and lack of promotion of fish as an excellent source of animal proteins which she cited as major constraints to sustainable small scale fisheries production in the IGAD region.

Garissa County, WFP set up food testing labs to ensure quality

BY ERICK KYALO (KNA)

Garissa County Government has unveiled three quality assurance-monitoring labs aimed at ensuring food sold locally was safe for consumption.

The mini-labs were established in collaboration with World Food Programme (WFP) and have been set up in Garissa, Masalani and Dadaab where they will grade food-stuff and detect the presence of toxins such as aflatoxin and fumonisin.

Previously, food samples had to be taken to Nairobi for testing and quality assurance.

Speaking during the launch of the Garissa lab, County Secretary Abdi Sheikh said the unveiling of the mini-labs was 'timely and crucial'.

Sheikh said 90 per cent of the food sold in local shops was sourced from neighbouring Somalia where quality standards were not enforced.

"These mini-labs will allow our public health team to step up its capacity to ensure sanitary and phytol-sanitary standards are maintained," Sheikh said.

He added that the government was inspiring action to help prevent, detect and manage food borne risks.

Yussuf Ali, officer in-charge of WFP Garissa branch said his office, jointly with the University of Nairobi, has trained and certified 12 county public health officers on food quality and safety.

The World Food Safety Day (WFSD), celebrated every June 7 annually, aims to draw attention and inspire action to help prevent, detect and manage foodborne risks, contributing to food security, human health, economic prosperity, agriculture, market access, tourism and sustainable development.

This year's theme, 'Safe food today for a healthy tomorrow', stressed that production and consumption of safe food has immediate and long-term benefits for people, the planet and the economy. Recognizing the systemic connections between the health of people, animals, plants, the environment and the economy will help us meet the needs of the future.

Food safety is a shared responsibility between governments, producers and consumers. Everyone has a role to play from farm to table to ensure the food we consume is safe and healthy.

Through the World Food Safety Day, WHO works to mainstream food safety in the public agenda and reduce the burden of foodborne diseases globally.

NLC to compensate farm owners displaced by new road

BY BERNARD MUNYAO (KNA)

Landowners whose land was excised by the Government to pave way for the construction of the Kenol-Marua road will be compensated this month.

Transport, Infrastructure, Public Works and Housing Cabinet Secretary James Macharia announced that the government has finalized all plans to pay the land owners beginning this month.

Macharia further said the funds for compensation have been set aside and his Ministry is working with the National Land Commission (NLC) to ensure those whose land was taken to create a way for the road got their money.

"Funds to compensate the farmers are ready and we will start paying the land owners. I thank all those who gave out their land even before they were paid which has enabled the construction of the road to proceed without challenges," said the CS as he led engineers from his Ministry and Kenya National Highway Authority (KeNHA) to inspect progress of the road construction.

In Kirinyaga county, the CS said there are 650 land owners waiting compensation while in the neighboring Nyeri county, more than 900 farmers are waiting for the compensation.

Macharia further praised the contractors working on the dual carriageway road noting that he was ahead of the scheduled time saying by December this year, one side of the road will be complete.

"We are following up to ensure the road is completed as scheduled. Currently, 12 percent of the road is complete. The government, in partnership with African Development Bank (AfDB) which is the financier are committed to ensure there is no shortage of resources which may delay the works," explained the CS.

The 84-kilometre dual carriageway road is divided into two lots, one starting from Kenol to Sagana which covers 48 kilometres and the other lot of 36 kilometres from Sagana to Marua. Each lot has been assigned different contractors.

Macharia said after doing one side of the road, the contractors will embark on upgrading the existing road to highway standards.

"By next year, the highway will be complete and local residents will enjoy easy movement, especially transporting agricultural produce" added Macharia.

The CS underscored the commitment of the government to develop infrastructure projects in the country especially roads saying, once the on-going construction of roads is complete, it will boost the economy of the country.

County launches Sh500m kitty to cushion SMEs

BY ANNE MWALE/
CATHERINE KARANJA

Nakuru County Government has launched a Sh 500 million loan facility to cushion Small and Medium Enterprises (SMEs) from the coronavirus pandemic economic aftershocks.

Governor Lee Kinyanjui said, though SMEs are the driving force of economic development in the devolved unit, accounting for 90 per cent of all businesses, 50 per cent of employment, and 40 per cent of Gross Domestic Product access to affordable finance remains a challenge to many.

Speaking at the County headquarters, Mr Kinyanjui noted that though big financial institutions play a critical role in growth and development in the SME sector, there were concerns over the cost of financing SMEs in terms of interest rates offered.

He was flanked by County

Executive Committee Member for Trade, Tourism and Cooperatives, Mr Raymond Komen and Kenya Institute of Business Training (KIBT) Regional Business Training Officer Francis Munyua.

"Despite their important contribution, this sector has continued to face challenges of accessing credit, due to lack of sufficient collateral, high cost of credit, and informal business structure. These challenges have been worsened by the Covid-19 Pandemic.

The Sh 500 million funding will strengthen our SMEs. There was no such programme before," observed Mr Kinyanjui.

The governor added that with reduced turnover and Covid-19 disruptions in the market and supply chains, many Small and Medium Enterprises are unlikely to attract affordable and quality credit under the traditional arrangements.

Mr Komen said the loan facility seeks to empower women, youth and persons with disabilities through financial support for their enterprises as a way of reducing poverty and increasing household incomes within the devolved unit.

He added that the kitty shall be used to provide affordable loans or credit for business capital, provide skills and business development, facilitate technology acquisition and provide technical assistance in product and market development.

Mr Komen noted that a survey conducted by the Kenya National Chamber of Commerce and Industry (KNCCI), the Ministry of Industry, Trade and Cooperatives and the International Trade Centre, had established that a third of SMEs in the country that needed funding failed to secure loans.

"The SME Competitiveness Survey said, 33 per cent of small businesses indicated that their applications were either rejected, opted not to apply due to high interest rates, collateral requirements and complex application procedures.

Launch Date: 15th June 2021

The National Construction Research Agenda (NaCRA) is designed to involve key stakeholders in determining and prioritizing research in the construction industry in Kenya. The wider objectives of NaCRA include;

1. Highlighting gaps and emerging issues affecting construction in Kenya;
2. Dialoguing on enhancing the effectiveness of research in construction industry;
3. Creating a platform for bringing together policy makers; professionals and other industry stakeholders on research matters; and
4. Enhancing institutional support for research in the construction industry.

The first edition of NaCRA was published in 2015 through a stakeholder led process. Its execution was achieved through partner sponsored studies, co-sponsored research work and self-implemented studies by the Authority. NaCRA 2014 – 2017 has guided realization of the following research outputs;

- 1) Formulation of the Construction Industry Policy (CIP);

- 2) Establishment of the Centre for Construction industry Development (CCID);
- 3) The Biennial International Construction Research Conference and Exhibition (ICoRCE);
- 4) Automation of regulatory processes of the Authority;
- 5) Development of capacity building initiatives for contractors, skilled workers and site supervisors;

- 7) Establishment of the Affordable Housing Village as platform for showcasing technologies for AHP program.

NaCRA 2020-2024

The NaCRA 2020-2024 launched today was a product of a stakeholder led review process for the inaugural NaCRA 2014-2017. The multi-agency committee comprised of government agencies, professional bodies, universities, private sector institutions and development partners. In this process, stakeholder input was called upon through the print media vide a public notice which appeared in the daily newspaper of 28th January 2020.

The following are the new research thematic areas Prioritized in NaCRA 2020-2024:

1. Construction Technology and Materials;
2. Capacity Development;
3. Construction Management;
4. Risk and Safety Management;
5. Environmental Issues;
6. Construction Economics;
7. Legal and Regulatory Framework; and
8. Construction and Politics.

NaCRA Implementation

The Authority plans to implement these research themes through internal and outsourced research activities funded by the Authority, co-research partnerships onboarding post graduate students and promoting the agenda in local and international universities. The Authority also targets partnership research programs with organizations in the construction industry with an eye on research.

It is estimated that implementation of NaCRA 2020-2024 in its fullest will cost KES 71 Billion. The Agenda has clearly stipulated implementation and resource mobilization strategies.

The Authority has developed various platforms of engagement with its stakeholders and they shall play a key role in making available research outputs. Part of the dissemination strategy of the Authority is ICoRCE and academic/technical journals. Further, the Authority will endeavour to publish key outputs of NaCRA, through the Construction Industry Outlook (CIO), an important informational resource for policy makers, investors and academia. The first edition of CIO will be launched alongside NaCRA 2020-2024.

A key aspect of the implementation of the research outputs from NaCRA related studies shall be commercialization and actualization of the findings. The Authority has identified partner institutions including associations and universities to develop incubation centers where these findings can be harnessed, and the same will also be promoted at the CCID.

Finally, the Authority has commissioned an annual review process to ensure the implementation of NaCRA is well monitored. An implementation committee shall ensure annual reporting on achieved activities.

MESSAGE FROM THE CABINET SECRETARY FOR TRANSPORT, INFRASTRUCTURE, HOUSING, URBAN DEVELOPMENT AND PUBLIC WORKS

Kenya's construction industry plays a big role in the socio-economic development of the country. This is encapsulated in the country's economic blue print, the Kenya Vision 2030 that recognizes construction as an enabler that will drive the country to become globally competitive and prosperous with a high quality of life by the year 2030. Construction is thus a critical component of the country's development and its impact is felt at both national and county levels. Currently, the implementation of the Big 4 Agenda is ongoing with the bulk of activities falling under the purview of the construction industry.

The Government has been taking deliberate steps towards addressing the challenges in the industry with the latest being the formulation of a Construction Industry Policy that seeks to create a well-coordinated and developed construction industry by addressing the needs of the industry and thereby contributing to sustainable socio-economic development. This policy has identified thematic areas and objectives with their corresponding policy directions. It is incumbent on all construction industry players to implement them for the policy to positively impact the industry.

My Ministry has also finalized the public participation workshops for the Draft National Building Code, 2020. This new Building Code will herald a new dispensation and better operations/activities in the built environment that emphasize and adhere to high quality standards.

Furthermore, the implementation of the National Construction Authority (Defect Liability) Regulations, 2020 will compel developers and contractors to be more responsible in ensuring that construction work is carried out while adhering to high quality standards.

Research is a core function of the National Construction Authority, and in the past years we have seen the National Construction Research Agenda (NaCRA) provide a basis by which research studies have been carried out in the construction industry. NaCRA seeks to bring together industry players including policy makers and training institutions to discuss and identify critical issues affecting the industry in relation to research, innovation and business development.

The second NaCRA (2020-2024) will provide an important avenue for the implementation of research outcomes and findings that are beneficial and address and myriad challenges in the industry. This will be actualised with the

MESSAGE FROM THE PRINCIPAL SECRETARY, THE STATE DEPARTMENT FOR PUBLIC WORKS

The Ministry, through the State Department for Public Works has initiated and supported various initiatives that endeavour to ensure high standards are adhered to and capacity in the construction industry is built. These initiatives include the formulation of the Construction Industry Policy (CIP); the National Building Code, 2020 and the National Construction Authority (Defect Liability) Regulations, 2020. The above key initiatives were to a great extent informed by research outcomes from the research studies carried out by the Authority based on the National Construction Agenda (NaCRA 2014-2017). NaCRA 2014-2017 has been reviewed to accommodate emerging issues in the construction industry and has culminated into NaCRA 2020-2024 that will inform research activities till 2024.

The State Department will ensure that the CIP, the Building Code and Defect Liability Regulations are implemented in order to address challenges and gaps in the construction industry and the built environment. The State Department will continually support the Authority in the carrying out of quality assurance activities that will prevent the collapse of buildings. The State Department will continue to support the Big 4 Agenda initiative of the Government by ensuring the construction of high quality and affordable housing units. Appropriate legal, institutional and implementation frameworks will be agreed upon and put in place by the relevant agencies. Both government and other institutions have been tasked to achieve the set objectives of the laws.

One noble initiative of the State Department through the National Construction Authority is the development of a Centre for Construction Industry Development (CCID) at the Konza Techno polis. The Centre among other functions will seek to establish a conducive environment to support inter-disciplinary basic and applied construction related research as well as provide a hub for knowledge, technology transfer and research diffusion to the construction industry and other allied sectors. The design work for the development of CCID is being finalized by a design team from the State Department for Public Works.

The State Department will endeavour to mobilize sufficient resources both financial and human for the implementation of NaCRA 2020-2024; the development of the CCID; the implementation of the Building Code; and implementation of the Defect Liability Regulations. This will be accomplished and sustained through the support from key stakeholders and donors.

Principal Secretary,
STATE DEPARTMENT FOR PUBLIC WORKS

MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIRPERSON OF THE BOARD, NATIONAL CONSTRUCTION AUTHORITY

The construction industry in Kenya is a unique industry, annually producing buildings and infrastructure valued at more than $1.2 billion. The National Development Agenda - "Big 4 Agenda" coupled with Vision 2030 projects heavy investments in the foreseeable future. These investments emphasize the importance of the sector in the country's economy.

The unique nature of construction activities has resulted in a deep multi-sectoral entanglement. This entanglement has caused several cross-cutting challenges that hinder development of quality construction products and formation of specialized trades. For these reasons, conducting research has been identified as a sure way of innovatively developing solutions for the industry. The Authority has developed the National Construction Research Agenda (NaCRA) to spearhead research in the construction industry and provide local solutions. NaCRA targets partnership frameworks to allow and encourage research amongst practitioners in the construction industry. In 2014, the Authority commissioned NaCRA 2014-2017 and identified 17 research areas towards improving the construction industry. The committee reviewed NaCRA 2014-2017 and showed that the industry had successfully addressed fifteen (15) thematic areas. This reflects an 88% level of success in addressing the identified NaCRA 2014-2017 thematic areas.

These improvements can also be attributed in part to the research activities of the National Construction Authority. The Committee to Review NaCRA 2014-2017 was composed of persons with widely diverse backgrounds who have worked in academia, government, industry, and labor unions. To complete its tasks, the Committee worked diligently, convening a series of meetings and also employing conference calls and e-mail correspondence. The Committee consulted widely to align NaCRA to the Big 4 Agenda and recognized international development agendas such as the African Union agenda 2063, the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals among others.

Despite many obstacles, the Committee noted that NaCRA is an important tool for developing the research attitude in Kenya's construction industry and thus came up with NaCRA 2020-2024 that will form the basis of research till 2024.

QS. David Gaithe
CHAIRPERSON, NCA BOARD

MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIRPERSON OF THE SPECIAL COMMITTEE TO REVIEW NaCRA

I am glad to have been accorded the opportunity to chair the Special Committee. The Committee comprised of representatives of key stakeholders in the construction industry. As a Committee we were able to come up with NaCRA 2020-2024 and we invite everyone to internalize the areas covered in the review, assist in solving the problems identified and make suggestions for improvement. There are two classifications of research; Basic Research and Applied/Action Research. Construction research is mainly applied/action research which is in form of a systematic enquiry involving the practical application of science, humanities, art, social-economy and business. Construction is a service industry which contributes significantly to economic growth and creates employment. It comprises of many stakeholders including the client, the design team, the construction team, the regulators and the policy makers.

The construction industry is faced with many challenges. These include management of the process, sustainability of the activities, efficiency and affordability, effectiveness of laws and policies and job creation among others. These challenges can be solved through research and implementation of research findings by NCA and other stakeholders.

MESSAGE BY THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR AND REGISTRAR OF CONTRACTORS OF THE NATIONAL CONSTRUCTION AUTHORITY

The National Construction Authority is a State Corporation established under the National Construction Authority Act No.41 of 2011 with the mandate of overseeing the construction industry and coordinating its development. The role of the Authority is engraved in three key pillars that is advisory, regulatory and capacity building for contractors, construction workers and site supervisors. Regulation involves registration and certification of contractors, accreditation of skilled construction workers and site supervisors and undertaking quality assurance activities. Capacity building includes undertaking training of contractors, construction workers and site supervisors while advisory services involve undertaking research on any matters affecting the construction industry.

Since its inception, the Authority has conducted a number of research studies that have been occasioned by prevailing conditions within the construction industry. To realize the research studies, the Authority conceived the National Construction Research Agenda, commonly referred to as NaCRA, in June, 2014. NaCRA (2014-2017) was originated through a stakeholder driven approach, during which 17 thematic areas were documented as priorities for research. The realization of the research agenda was given a timeline of three years, lapsing in June 2017, and would be subjected to a review to inform the next research Agenda.

In a bid to provide a forum for dissemination of research findings, the Authority further conceived the International Construction Research Conference and Exhibition (ICORCE) in 2015. Currently NCA has undertaken three ICORCE events where 25, 29 and 9 research papers were presented in 2015, 2016 and 2018 respectively. ICORCE attracted research works from a wide range of industry stakeholders including academia, manufacturers, professional and regulatory bodies among others. Further, in January 2021, the Authority planned a successful Construction Research Dissemination Forum where some key research studies done by NCA were disseminated to the industry stakeholders ranging from regulators, government agencies, public, non-state actors, media, among others.

The aforementioned milestones marked a key achievement towards the realization of NaCRA 2014-2017. In order to accommodate emerging issues in the construction industry the Authority appointed a multi-sector committee to review NaCRA 2014-2017. The Committee has finalized its work by coming up with NaCRA 2020-2024 that comprises of 8 themes and will provide a guideline for research studies till 2024. The Authority would like to appreciate the Committee for accomplishing the tasks given based on the terms of reference. The 2020-2024 research Agenda is largely informed by key challenges facing the construction industry dubbed the 6Ms: manpower, machine, material, method, money and market. The Authority looks forward to collaborating and partnering with key stakeholders in the construction industry for the realization of the 2020-2024 research Agenda.

FAO trains vets on control of trans-border animal diseases

BY ANNE MWALE (KNA)

The Ministry of Agriculture in collaboration with United States Agency for International Development (USAid) and Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) has initiated a training program for veterinary officers on new surveillance, detection and management techniques of trans-boundary animal diseases.

Principal Secretary State Department for Livestock, Harry Kimtai said in Sub-Saharan Africa where livestock production accounts for 25 percent of economic activity, diseases such as East Coast Fever (ECF), Rift Valley Fever (RVF) and Foot and Mouth threaten livelihoods and food security.

Speaking in Nakuru when he launched the training, the first one of its kind in the country for the first batch of 25 veterinary officers, Mr Kimtai observed that those mostly impacted are pastoral communities who rear herds of cattle and goats for livelihoods.

"They move from one place to another in search of pasture and water, often this increases the transmissibility of these diseases in savannas and forests. Some of the diseases are zoonotic, which means they can jump from animals to humans," he added.

The Principal Secretary was accompanied by County Executive Committee Member for Agriculture, Fisheries and Livestock Dr. Immaculate Maina, FAO Country Representative Ms Carla Mucavi and USAid Regional Advisor Mr Ricardo Echalar. The month-long venture is dubbed "Frontline in service applied veterinary epidemiology training program."

Mr Kimtai said diseases such as Pasteurella (pulpy kidney), Enterotoxaemia (haemorrhagic septicemia) and anthrax have a huge impact on cattle and small ruminant production and were among the most destructive trans-boundary diseases in the region.

He indicated that Kenya was witnessing new trans-boundary diseases that have been spreading from other countries through trade or other human movements, environmental forces such as water, weather and windborne and insect or other vector-borne pathogens.

Mucavi noted that 75 percent of diseases afflicting human beings have their origins in animals. She said a multi sectoral approach bringing on board specialists in agriculture, health and environment was necessary to contain diseases that can be spread to humans from animals.

The FAO Country Representative said though some of the well-known zoonotic ailments such as tuberculosis, rabbit fever, rabies, Toxocariasis, HIV/Aids among others had been around for centuries, new ailments were emerging due to environmental changes and increased human interaction through local and international travel. USAid Regional Advisor noted climate change that has resulted in prolonged droughts or dry spells in most parts of the country has led to a growing number of livestock keepers to encroach on protected areas like national parks or game reserves in search of pastures

Dr. Maina said transboundary diseases not only represent a high to moderate risk to the food chain in Kenya but also posed a serious threat to lives of livestock keepers.

State to develop communication strategy to guarantee accurate, timely info sharing

BY MONICA OMORO (PCO)

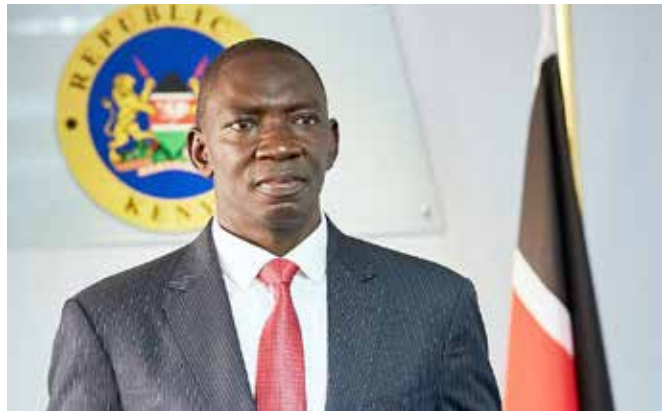

The Government is developing a National Communication Policy (NCP) to enhance its image and communication to the people of Kenya, the private sector, development partners and the international community.

According to Government Spokesman Col.(Rtd) Cyrus Oguna, the new policy will also ensure accurate and regular appraisal of the National Agenda.

Col. Oguna made the disclosure while closing a seminar for members of a task team on the development of the NCP at a Naivasha hotel.

Col. Oguna said his office is spearheading the process, through the Ministry of ICT, Innovations and Youth Affairs, the State Department for Broadcasting and Telecommunications which is under PS Esther Koimett.

The Government Spokesperson said NCP will also assist in the standardization of Government Public Communications structures, processes and procedures across government ministries, departments and agencies at both National and County Government levels.

Government Spokesman Col.(Rtd) Cyrus Oguna

“This new NCP is expected to instill confidence and trust, help in the day-to-day running of the sector and build and promote a positive image of the Government”, he said.

Col. (Rtd) Oguna noted that the existence of an over-arching guiding communications policy or a clear strategic communications plan was key in enhancing the Government’s overall communication to its citizenry and challenged the Task Team Members to give this exercise their best as they were selected based on their professional experiences necessary for this process.

“The NCP Task team Committee members must ensure that the Draft National Communication Policy is in place before 30th, June this year, and is finalized procedurally through the existing Government system in the course of this year, to further guide and streamline the sector”, Col (Rtd) Oguna said.

Col. Oguna further stressed the importance of Communication when utilized as a management and governance tool.

“Communication creates awareness on policies and programs as well as projects being implemented by the Government and is instrumental in promoting public participation and engagement in the governance process,” the Spokesperson said.

The Task Team on the development of NCP was appointed by the Principal Secretary Ms Esther Koimett, State Department of Broadcasting and Telecommunication and is being coordinated by the Office of the Government Spokesperson.

The Committee is chaired by the Secretary Administration, Ms Juliana Yipani. Its membership is derived from the Ministries of ICT, Innovation and Youth Affairs, departments of Public Communication and other Government Agencies.

Invest in technology to reap from Kenya's growing digital economy, PS tells capitalists

BY BERNADETTE KHADULI/
MICAL IMBUKWA (KNA)

The Principal Secretary in the State Department for ICT and Innovation, Jerome Ochieng has urged institutions to invest in their human capital through digital skills development, knowledge transfer and capacity building. Ochieng said by so doing, they will benefit from Kenya's growing digital economy. The PS said, the Government has focused on the digital economy, as it is a key contributor to the socio-economic development of the country, noting that the key strategies deployed by the government will enable the Kenya become a middle-income knowledge economy by the year 2030.

The PS who was speaking at the official opening of the Huawei Training Centre at the Africa Advanced Level Telecommunication Institute (AFRALTI) in Nairobi said, the government will continue to develop requisite policies and legal frameworks, infrastructure and the necessary institutional reforms that will promote the growth of digital economy.

Ochieng added through digital technology, a large number of Kenyans will turn to the digital economy for their socio-economic well-being, but added that success to the technological solutions requires concerted efforts in bridging the skills gap. “The skills gaps across all industries are poised to grow with acceleration of the global digital economy towards the fourth industrial revolution,” said the PS. He noted that rapid advances in Artificial Intelligence, robotics and other emerging technologies are altering the very nature of jobs and consequently the skills needed to get the jobs done. Mr. Ochieng said the draft Digital Economy Strategy 2021 calls for all Kenyans to meet the competencies and expertise required for the digital economy.

“The aim of the strategy is to build capacity in anticipation of the changing needs in the technology environment and to increase the number of citizens trained in the digital skills spectrum,” said the PS.

WHO donates Sh 5b worth of drugs to fight Bilharzia

The fight against bilharzia and intestinal worms in the country has received a major boost after the World Health Organization (WHO) donated drugs worth Sh. 5 billion to combat the neglected tropical diseases in the country.

Ministry of Health Division of Vector Borne and Neglected Tropical Diseases head Dr. Sultan Matendecheo said, the department has rolled out a new strategy through which the donation shall be channelled to eradicate the diseases.

The Breaking Transmission Strategy (BTS) which is being rolled out in Trans-Nzoia, Bungoma, Kakamega and Vihiga counties, he said, targets to treat six million people in the four counties over the next five years.

Through a partnership with AMREF and The End Fund, the approach, he said targets to treat school children and members of the community to break transmissions and completely eradicate the diseases.

“We have realized that when we treat school children, the incidence drops but when you go back after three months and test, you find that the numbers have gone up again,” he said.

Once completed successfully, the program which runs for five years, shall be scaled up to cover the lake region, Rift Valley and the Coast.

“We picked on these four counties because the transmissions stem from small ponds unlike the lake region and the coast which have massive water bodies and it's quite involving to control the diseases,” he said. Speaking in Kisumu Wednesday during a sensitization meeting for County First Ladies, Dr. Matendecheo said Neglected Tropical Diseases (NTDs) continue to affect attendance and performance of school going children adding that the program is expected to reverse the tide. The burden of managing NTD's, he added was a strain on public resources disclosing that over Sh. 200 billion is spent annually to control the diseases. AMREF Health Africa Country Director Dr. Meshack Ndirangu said 13% of Kenyans are infested by worms with 70% being children aged 5-14 years. The End Fund Vice President Dr. Carol Karutu called for advocacy and resources mobilization to give impetus to the fight against the diseases.

New action plan to address mental health issues unveiled

The Government has unveiled the Kenya Mental Health Action Plan 2021-2025 to provide the framework for the country's Mental Health Transformational journey over the next five years.

The Action Plan spells out concerted efforts and investment to implement strategic actions and targets.

Speaking during the official launch of the Action plan in Nairobi, Health Chief Administrative Secretary (CAS) Dr. Mercy Mwangangi said the plan seeks to decentralize mental health services and programmes to primary healthcare at the community level.

“This Action plan will provide a framework for both National and County Governments to implement the Mental Health Policy and Taskforce Recommendations through strategic actions with specified targets and indicators,” she said.

Dr. Mwangangi noted that a taskforce report on mental health in the country found glaring gaps in Kenya's mental health systems which the plan will address plus the challenges by setting targets to increase mental healthcare financing through Universal Health Coverage (UHC).

The National and County Governments she added, shall be expected to dedicate resources towards establishment of user-friendly mental health infrastructure and amenities.

This, Dr. Mwangangi said will include ICT based services hardware at community and primary care level and ensure consistent supply of essential and high-quality medicine, equipment and technologies.

“We must strengthen our health information system to ensure timely and reliable collection and reporting of data on mental health indicators from the household level”, she added. Dr. Frank Njenga who heads the Mental Health Taskforce said that unknown to the world, mental health issues are very common giving an example of between 800,000 and 1 million people dying by suicide every year and that translates to one human being losing a life every 40 second and yet suicide is a preventable condition.
